You have the right to make a complaint at any time to the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO), the UK supervisory authority for data protection issues (www.ico.org.uk). However, we ask that you contact us in the first instance and give us the opportunity to address your concerns before you consider contacting the ICO.

Our data protection policy is regularly reviewed to ensure that we comply with all new regulations.

Race Furniture's privacy policy includes the collection, use, and disclosure of personal information that may be collected anytime you interact with us, such as when you visit our website, when you purchase our products or services, visit our showrooms or events, or when you interact with our representatives. It is important that the personal data we hold about you is accurate and current, so please let us know if your personal data changes at any time.

Why we need personal information

We collect personal information so that we can deliver excellent customer service. It allows us to conduct business with you and inform you of our products and services, events, new launches, special offers, process orders and undertake deliveries etc. We have a legitimate interest in collecting the data to conduct business with you and we take all necessary steps to keep your data secure.

The data we collect about you

Personal data, or personal information, means any information about an individual from which that person can be identified. It does not include data where the identity has been removed (anonymous data). It is not possible for Race Furniture to enter into a contract to deliver products or services without the provision of certain personal data.

- Identity data: includes first name, last name, username or similar details
- Contact data: includes billing address, delivery address, email address, social media ID, and telephone numbers
- Transactional data: such as bank details and details about payments to and from Race Furniture
- Technical data: IP address, browser type
- Profile data: Marketing preferences and survey feedback responses
- Aggregated data: statistical data
- Usage data: includes information about how you use our website, products and services.

Race Furniture does not collect any special categories of personal data, i.e., details of race, ethnicity, religious belief, sexual orientation, political opinions, trade union membership, health, and generic and biometric data.

How we collect your personal data

We use different methods to collect your personal data including through:

Directly from you:

You may give us your identity and contact data either face-to-face or by filling in forms, or by corresponding with us by post, phone, email or otherwise. This includes any personal data you provide when you:

- Place an order for products or services
- Discuss a possible project or after sales activity
- Request information to be sent to you
- Meet us at an exhibition, in our showroom or at a business event
- Give us feedback

Automated technology or interactions:

As you interact with our website or any of our digital platforms, we may automatically collect Technical Data about your equipment, browsing actions and patterns. We collect this personal data by using cookies, server logs and similar technologies. Please see our cookie policy for further details

Third parties or publicly available sources

Race Furniture may receive personal data from third parties and public sources.

- Technical data from IP addresses from analytics providers such as Google
- Financial data such as payment transaction details from providers of payment and delivery services
- Identity and contact data from publicly available sources such as Companies House

How we use your personal data

We will only use your personal data when the law allows. The information collected may be used to fulfil your order requests, or by our marketing and sales department to send you delivery information, product updates, company news, special offers and company updates. We will use showroom or event visitor information to make your visit arrangements, to ensure that we follow up your visit with any resources you need, and to send you information that could be of interest in the future.

The following table describes the ways we plan to use personal data and the legal basis we rely on to do so.

Marketing

Race Furniture will use personal data to form a view on what marketing activities it believes will be of interest. You may receive technical and marketing communications if you have requested information from us or purchased products or services and have not opted out of receiving such communications. These communications will include important information such as new product availability, factory holiday shut downs, ordering details and new sales resources.

Race Furniture’s marketing activity is based on an email system which provides suppression of any unsubscribed individuals. The list is cleaned a minimum of every six months to remove any outdated contacts and to ensure accuracy.

Every marketing email you receive will have a clear unsubscribe option. You can ask us to stop sending you marketing messages at any time by using the unsubscribe link on our emails, or by contacting DataOfficer@racefurniture.com

Where you opt out of receiving marketing emails, this will not apply to personal data provided to us and still required to process your orders or requested services.

Your legal rights

You have the right under data protection laws to:

- Request access to your personal data
- Request correction of your personal data
- Request erasure of your personal data
- Object to the processing of your personal data
- Request restriction of processing your personal data
- Request transfer of your personal data
- Withdraw consent

If you wish to exercise any of these rights, please contact us at DataOfficer@racefurniture.com

No fee usually required

You will not normally have to pay a fee for exercising your rights. However, we may charge a reasonable fee if a request is clearly unfounded, repetitive or excessive.

Information we may need

We may need to request specific information from you to help us to confirm your identity and ensure that your rights to access your personal data is not disclosed to any person who has no rights to receive it. We may also contact you to ask for further information in relation to your request to speed up our response.

When we disclose your information

Race Furniture will not sell or rent your contact information to any other third party at any time. We will only provide information to a third party if we have to by law; because of the work we are doing for you; to the extent we are allowed to do so in the Agreement, or if you told us that we can disclose it.

We may share personal data with the following parties:

- As part of Ocee International we may share your information with our other trading companies, Ocee Design Limited, Four Design Group Limited ApS and Ocee International Limited.
- Personal details will also be shared, where required, with courier, delivery and installation service providers to facilitate the completion of your order
- Professional advisors including lawyers, accountants and auditors based in the UK who provide legal or accounting services
- Service providers who provide credit check services

We require all third parties to respect the security of your personal data and treat it in accordance with the law. Ocee International companies all comply with this data protection policy; data is transferred within the EU, and we will ensure the security of that information.

How we protect your personal information

Race Furniture takes your privacy very seriously. Race Furniture has put in place appropriate security measures to prevent your personal data from being accidentally lost, used or accessed in an unauthorised way, altered or disclosed. In addition, we limit access to your personal data to those employees, agents, contractors and other third parties who have a business need to know. They will only process your personal data on our instructions and they are subject to a duty of confidentiality.

How long we hold your personal data for

We will only retain your personal data for as long as necessary to fulfil the purposes we collected it for, including the purpose of satisfying any legal, accounting, or reporting requirements.

To determine the appropriate retention period for personal data, we consider the amount, nature, and sensitivity of the personal data, the potential risk of harm from unauthorised use or disclosure of your personal data, the purpose for which we process your personal data and whether we can achieve those purposes through other means, and the applicable legal requirements.

Website

We use analytical cookies on our websites which allow us to record technical data (such as IP addresses) so that we can recognise and count the number of visitors to our site and to see how visitors move around the site when they are using it. This helps us to improve the way our website works, for example by ensuring that users find what they are looking for easily. We do not keep records of individual names or addresses, all of the data that we collect from the use of cookies is aggregated and anonymous. View our cookie policy

You are not required to input any personal information to use our website in general, however, access to certain areas may require personal information to be recorded.

Any such personal information which we receive via this website will be used by us only for the purposes for which it was received and for any future communications with the sender of such information by Race Furniture. We will not, however, disclose such personal information we receive in respect of your use of the website to any third party without your permission, except as required by law.

Whilst we take all reasonable precautions to protect any personal data users may input via this website we cannot be responsible for and therefore exclude all liability for loss or misuse of personal data which is intercepted or otherwise accessed by unauthorised persons.
